U-M is going green!

The University of Michigan is investing in DTE's MIGreenPower to help reduce their carbon footprint. The school's clean energy commitment will power the equivalent of about half of the university's Ann Arbor campus. Go green at migreenpower.com

Working this summer to be prepared

Winter weather may be months away, but DTE is hard at work now buying and storing natural gas while prices are lower. We're locking in prices to keep your costs down this fall and winter. Find out how DTE keeps the price you pay under control at dteenergy.com/price
